CENTER OF THE OIL REGIONS .- The very enter of the Oil Regions, as well as the Mining Regions, is Pitteburgh, as every one will admit. It is, therefore, the spot of all others for the publication of a first-class paper devoted to Petroleum and Mining, and conducted with intelligence, energy and impartiality. Acting on this presump tion, and having unlimited faith in the permanency of the oil and mining interests, Messrs. Woods & Blake will issue, in Pittsburgh, on the 10th of March, the initial number of The Oil News and Mining Journal, chiefly devoted to Petroleum, and subordinately to Coal, Iron, Copper, and the other leading minerals of which Pennsylvania is the center.

The Oil News and Mining Journal will be a large eight-page weekly, published on fine and well-calendered book-paper, and in clear and legible type. Its issue will contain a great amount of news carefully collected and condensed from every channel of information, able editorials and original articles from writers of acknowledged aucorrespondents from every part of the oil regions, full and reliable reports of companies, oil and stock markets, frequent maps of separate districts and localities, ample telegraphic reports, giving everything of interest from the chief oil districts and markets up to within a few hours of going to press, including "oil strikes," present and expected-and, in brief, everything which a first class oil paper ought to contain. The subscription price is $5 per annum, payable invariably in advance. Subscribers, advertisers and news-agents will please address at once "Woods & Blake, Chronicle Buildings, Pittsburgh, Pa." To the last s most liberal discount will be given.

GRAND MILITARY BALL OF THE WEST SIDE. -The Military Ball on the West Side, which comes off on Friday evening next, March 10th, promises to be one of the grandest affairs of the season. PRAT FOR LOCOMOTIVE FURL.-The Bufdent of the Council, Thomas Jones, Jr., in falo Express says that last week an experiment was tried on the Central Road for the purpose of ascertaining the adaptability of pest for railroad purposes A special train, consisting of a locomotive and one passenger car, was run from Syracuse to Warner's and back, a distance of twenty miles, using peat exclusively for fuel. The result of the experiment is said to have been highly satisfactory. The quantity of peat consumed in the trip was less than half a ton, while the consump tion of coal, in running the same distance with an ordinary train, is never less than one ton. There was considerable snow on the track at the time, which made the running more difficult, and probably necessitated the consumption of a greater quantity of fuel than if the track had been clear
